From the Executive Director

What an amazing time this is for Quilts of Valor Foundation. All over this great nation, commemorative 200,000th QOVs have been awarded in recent weeks. Thank you for sharing stories of your awards and helping to contribute to the festivities. You can see just a few of the award photos elsewhere in this edition of THREADS.

Many exciting products and opportunities are coming, and new partnerships are forming. Heartfelt thanks to Mary Kerr and Tony Jacobson, Quilting Industry Liaisons for the Board of Directors, who worked very hard establishing relationships at the International Quilt Market. Many thanks also to Sue Reich, Ginger Fondren, and Jackie Dudek. We manned the QOVF booth at the International Quilt Festival and met so many nice people who wanted to learn more about Quilts of Valor. Especially touching were the stories from the veterans who had already been awarded a QOV. They always say thank you and what a great organization QOVF is.

YOU are the ones who make this great organization. Your undying love for making the life of a veteran brighter is unparalleled. You finish one quilt and can’t wait to start on another. Whatever your role is in QOVF, thank you for all you do, every day.

I would like to wish you the merriest of holidays, may they be joyous and fun, filled with good times and family. May 2019 be your best year ever, taking time for yourself as you continue the mission. Until next time, quilt with peace and happiness, knowing you are making a difference.

UNDER OUR WINGS

SOARS WITH SCOUTS

Information provided by Pattilynne Miller-Mitchem

Late last year, Pattilynne Miller-Mitchem, a member of a QOV sewing group in Baldwin, AL, was working with a troop of Girl Scouts, making QOVs. She contacted Under Our Wings® (UOW) Coordinator Saundra Chambers to ask how she could turn her Girl Scout sewing group into a UOW program. Pattilynne states, “This whole project resulted from one email contact that I made to the National Girl Scout website. I briefly explained the Under the Wings program and solicited any troop leader with girls interested in learning to sew quilt tops to contact me. It took a few months, but once they made contact the project has birthed into a great effort.”

During six months of sewing and learning under the mentorship of the Baldwin QOV Group, members of Girl Scouts of Southern Alabama Troop 8004 made three quilts each. The UOW group that emerged included six Girl Scouts and one Boy Scout who was a brother of one of the girls. Mentors started the young people off with kits that were precut by the mentors—first a very simple stacked book pattern and next a pinwheel block. Each Scout chose a favorite of the two designs, and then the troop went shopping for fabric. QOV mentors assisted the Scouts with cutting and sewing their third quilt.

The Scouts were next charged with identifying a veteran in the community to be their awardee and acquiring funding for the quilt they would make for him or her. Several in the group made more than one quilt. All quilts produced in the Scout sewing sessions were long armed by four of the QOV mentors and included in the awards. “Thanks to Troop 8004 we are able to have two award ceremonies this year,” reported Pattilynne. “The Scouts participated in our first spring award ceremony and awarded the first 21 of 25 quilts awarded on May 23rd.” Five additional quilts were awarded over the next few weeks on an individual basis.

Saundra provided the young people with achievement award certificates from QOVF for completion of 50 hours of service. She also sent them Under Our Wings pins for their participation in the making and awarding of QOVs.

Pattilynne wrote, “Because so many veterans live in Baldwin County, we had hoped this year to double the number of QOVs from what we awarded last year. Our group of Scouts is helping us move forward on this goal. I would urge any QOV group to reach out to the Girl Scouts.”

Topper Group and the National Longarmer Group. Neither of these groups raise funds, but each of their members has the same benefits as an individual member or group member of a local area group.

I am a group member, how do I renew my membership?

All group members must renew through their group leader. (Please do not login to your account and renew directly.) Some changes in how groups renew are being undertaken, so your contacting your group leader for membership renewals is greatly appreciated.

How do I start a new group in my area?

On the website go to MEMBERSHIP, then JOIN. You must print out the forms and submit them all by mail, along with a check. (The option to type all the information into the online forms before printing them is available for your convenience.) All new groups must start with a minimum of two members (one of which is identified as the group leader). QOVF is working to allow new groups to submit online forms and credit card payments in the future, but is currently unable to accommodate such requests.

If you have any questions, please contact Membership Director Jackie Dudek at Jackie.dudek@qovf.org.

QOVF OUTSTANDING MEMBER RECOGNITION AWARDS

By Sue Reich

As we celebrate the success of QOVF reaching the milestone of awarding the 200,000th quilt, the QOVF Directors would like to express our sincere gratitude to all members, group leaders, state coordinators, and executive staff. You are the backbone of the foundation and are directly responsible for our continuing national benevolent quiltmaking achievements.

Expressing gratitude for service is the hallmark of QOVF. As we close a very productive 2018, we would like to thank a few individuals who deserve special recognition. Understand that when contacted about receiving these Outstanding Member Recognition Awards, each nominee responded with humility, suggesting that other QOVF volunteers were more deserving. Nonetheless, the board is honored to feature their individual contributions and present them with our service coin in sincere gratitude for all they do for QOV.

The QOVF Outstanding Member Recognition Awards and QOVF Service Coins for 2018 are presented to:

Sue Selby Moats, Gaithersburg, MD
Donna Bryant, Conway County, AR
Jan Roberta, North Franklin, CT
Elaine Alexander and Lynn Lindsey, Kansas City, MO
Marjorie Woody, Burien, WA
Susan Calabrese, Corning, NY

Capital Quilts QOVF Group, Gaithersburg, MD, Sue Moats is in the center.

Please join in thanking each of them for their exceptional contributions. Following are a few of the highlights of their service to QOVF.

Sue Selby Moats
Gaithersburg, MD

For Sue Moats, QOVF is all about “we” and not about me. Expressing the same humility that many veteran awardees do, Sue stresses that her contributions to QOVF’s success are a small part of the bigger picture. Sue began with QOVF as a longarm quilter and organized a QOVF group at Capital Quilts in Gaithersburg, MD. This active group shares quilts with Mother Seton Parish Quilting Angels awarding quilts in Maryland.

Donna Bryant
Conway County, AR

Donna Bryant of Northeast Conway County, AR, has been volunteering for QOVF for over six years. Donna opens her sewing room monthly to her QOV group, “A Second Tour,” and even provides the main course at lunch time. As a longarm quilter, Donna has quilted and bound nearly 550 quilts. Awarding quilts is a family affair both Donna and her husband, Michael. They travel across the state to honor our nation’s military with QOVs.

Jan Roberta
North Franklin, CT
Jan Roberta is a QOVF powerhouse in eastern CT. Shortly after opening Stitch Chicks Quilt Shop, she held a QOV Sew Day and developed a partnership with her local VFW Post. Through Jan’s efforts, the VFW is one of QOVF’s biggest supporters. They hold fundraisers and make breakfast for Sew Days. Jan has reached out to other organizations as well. The QOVF group Jan started now has more than 100 volunteers. The Stitch Chicks wrap over 200 veterans each year. A satellite group begun in Niantic has hosted QOV Sew Days for three years. State coordinators consider Jan to be CT’s Wonder Woman.

Elaine Alexander and Lynn Lindsey
Kansas City, MO
Elaine Alexander and Lynn Lindsey are founding members of the Kansas City QOV group established in 2006. The group covers 26 counties. This dynamic duo is involved in every aspect of the QOV process from making quilts, to recruiting and working with volunteer longarmers, to conducting QOV award ceremonies. Elaine and Lynn were involved in several large group presentations for local deployed military units at Fort Riley, Afghanistan, Fort Leavenworth, Kuwait, and Guantanamo Bay. In total, they have been involved in over 400 QOV ceremonies. After twelve years of extraordinary dedication to QOVF, Elaine and Lynn announced their retirement in August of this year.

Marjorie Woody
Burien, WA
In 2012, Marj Woody began her commitment to QOVF. She made a quilt and was included in the award ceremony. After that experience, she was hooked as a QOV member piecing a QOV every month. Marj began a QOVF group which now has 37 members. Since 2012, the group has awarded 443 quilts including 86 QOVs in 2018. Marj is the strong motivational force. She creates quilt kits, longarms all her quilts, and embroiders her own labels. Marj says that the best part of being a QOV member is being with recipients and meeting their families. “They are so appreciative,” she says.

Susan Calabrese
Corning, NY
Since 2012, Susan Calabrese has served as Group Leader of the QOVF Southern Tier. She is a leader who’s inspired nearly 200 QOVs in the past three years. In support of other QOVF groups, her group provided 100 quilt kits and sent over 100 quilts to needy destinations. They hold a Veteran’s Day Quilting Marathon, drawing quilters from the area. Susan values her group where members handle quilt tracking, website, fundraising, grant applications, award presentations, and marathon preparations. A superb quilter herself, Susan always finds time to make beautiful QOVs.
A MILESTONE ACHIEVEMENT: 200,000TH QUILT AWARD
By Sue Reich

The United States of America has always been known for benevolence. Expressing gratitude is what Quilts of Valor is all about. Whether we “cover a service member touched by war” or pen a thank you note to a longarm quilter, expressing “thank you” defines our mission. Serendipitously, awarding the 200,000th QOV happened in the month of November just as Americans celebrated two special days, Veterans Day and Thanksgiving. On Veterans Day, we honor our nation’s service members for committing their lives in the defense of our country. On Thanksgiving, we take the day to reflect upon our harvest and show gratitude for the blessings we, as a nation, have received.

In this final 2018 issue of THREADS, enjoy these images shared of the numerous 200,000th Honorary QOV Awards across our nation. Thank you to those of you who took time to commemorate this milestone for QOVF. As we forge ahead to the 300,000th quilt award, your dedication to honoring our nation’s service members is most heartwarming.

New York’s honorary 200,000th quilt was awarded to Glenn Dodge, a 102-year-old World War II veteran from Sackets Harbor.

Ivan Fierro, US Army, received the Honorary 200,000th quilt at the Cibolo Texas Grange.

Huckleberry Patches, McCall, ID, awarded their Honorary 200,000th QOV to Denise Tangen.

Maine’s 200,000th Honorary QOVs were a family affair awarded to this father, son, and father-in-law trio.

An Honorary 200,000th QOV was awarded to Shane Kimbrough (Col. US Army, Ret.), Veteran of Desert Storm and NASA Astronaut, shown in Houston, TX, with the American Legion’s award winning Honor Guard.
QOVF Certified Quilt Shop Program
By Myra Coddens

Welcome aboard to our newest members of the Certified Quilt Shop Program. The following shops completed certification since the last newsletter:
3 Hens and A Chick Quilt Shop       Athens, AL
In Stitches with Gayla              Shreveport, LA
Seacoast Sewing and Quilting        Portsmouth, NH

We extend a welcome to New Hampshire and Alabama who have joined, bringing the total to 44 participating states.

Nearly three year ago, we launched the Certified Quilt Shop Program and it’s time to make some changes. Beginning in 2019, QOVF will be expanding the program to include other businesses in addition to quilt shops, such as longarm quilting businesses and retreat centers. Though we expect that many quilt shops will elect to sponsor a QOV Group, it will no longer be required. Watch the website and future editions of THREADS newsletter to learn more as these changes are implemented.
